

Junior Software Developer - My Way Digital Health

Who we are?

MyWay Digital Health (MWDH) is an ambitious, rapidly expanding digital health company with a goal to improve the lives of people living with diabetes through our data-driven, award-winning MyDiabetesMyWay self-management platform.

We are looking to transform diabetes care globally, delivering knowledge and advice to patients and health-care professionals, thereby improving care quality, saving lives, and saving money. Life at MWDH is challenging and rewarding! check out more at [mywaydigitalhealth.co.uk]

The candidate:

MWDH is looking to recruit a talented and enthusiastic Junior Developer to join our growing team and help us design, maintain, test, and support new products and systems.

The ideal candidate will have knowledge of Web Services and .NET, and a degree in Software Engineering or equivalent. Reporting to the Development Manager, the successful candidate will be responsible for working within a small, dynamic team to deliver integrations to healthcare systems, as well as working on their suite of products, writing reliable code, and supporting any faults.

This is an ideal opportunity to join a vibrant and exciting company with progression opportunities as you continue building a successful software engineering career.

Required Job Skills:

- .NET Framework
- BSc Computer Science or related discipline

Desirable (Exposure to):

- Agile development methodologies
- WebServices
- Entity Framework
- Unit Testing
- SQL
- Gained experience with using GIT
- Microsoft DevOps
- Restful APIs
- Object Orientated Design & Principles

Personal Attributes:

- Team working
- Good communication, both written and verbal
- Proactive and enthusiastic approach to work
- Comfortable multi-tasking
- Flexible and adaptable
- A desire to learn and understand in a fast-expanding industry

We offer a competitive salary in this full-time role that will be work from home during the Covid crisis. Longer term we expect people to split their time working from our Edinburgh Office and working from home.

This is an opportunity to join a team that champions industry best practice, on the job training and mentoring, as well as developing products that will improve the lives of people with diabetes.

For more information please email info@mwdh.co.uk.